According to the National Center for Health Statistics Centers an estimated 3.3 million children (6%) had Attention Deficit Disorder (ADD).
An estimated 4.6 million children 3-17 years of age (8%) had a learning disability (LD), and an estimated 3.3 million children (6%) had Attention Deficit Disorder (ADD). The percent of boys with LD was almost double that for girls, and the percent of boys with ADD was more than triple, of that for girls?

How many professional are suggesting that parents change the child's diet? Not one professional did to us, they just offered medications to help CONTROL our children. Please know there are natural modalities that can be used and diet has a gigantic part in it. As I mentioned this was a great opportunity to educate these students on how chemicals can affect us. Hopefully they will think twice, and look at the diet first.
